

Messenger family

We have five family trees for the local Messenger family from the 19th century as follows

Ann Messenger (born about 1838) was a kitchen-maid at Shotover in 1862

The following additional information on Messengers in Wheatley may or may not be connected with any of the foregoing family trees.

1. The Chequers public house on the corner of Friday Lane, had closed by the time of the 1911 census when it was lived in by a Thomas Messenger, a retired jobbing gardener
2. E P Messenger founded Wheatley Estates in 1973. He may have been the son of Wilfred Ernest Messenger?
3. Wilfred Ernest Messenger and Phyllis Kirby Messenger lived in Coombe House in the 1960s. Wilfred was an auctioneer who managed his father's firm of E J Messenger. They later moved to Hill House (the big house on the east side of Ladder Hill) and then, after Wilfred died, to a smaller house in London Road (number 90?). They had two sons, and a daughter.
4. Richard had two sons by his first wife (names not known). Then he married Jan, with whom he had two sons: David and ??, and a daughter.
5. Timothy (not known where he fitted in) worked for Mallam's the auctioneer, in Oxford. It is believed that Mallams bought out Messenger's.
