

Dr. G. R. Orchard

Weaker and his

R. G. R. Orchard, the Wheatdoes not ley family doctor, D ley family doctor, who retires on Saturday, does not like the National Health Service because, he says, it tends to take people to the hospitals, and away from the care and attention of the local practicular. tioner.

He says: "I have always been used to and prefer the family doctor practice, in which one can bring the babies into the world, care for them, and watch

Dr. Orchaid, who is 62, has practised for 29 years in Wheatley and villages within a seven-mile radius and last month about 250 of those he has served gathered at his home to express their appreciation. their appreciation.

Dr. Orchard came to Wheatley from Ashby-de-la-Zouch, where he had practised as assistant to his father for a little more than two years. He is proud of the fact that his father's medical service of 40 years, together with his own and that of a ce of 40 years, together his own and that of a n, total more than 100 with h cousin, years.

Good friend

Wheatley will miss him not only as a doctor, but as a very good friend. In his own words, he has "always tried to do everything with friendliness and with no class distinction, treating everybody alike."
With Mr. W. Tombs and others he was responsible for getting the water supply laid on about 25 years ago; he has been a member of the Parochial Church Council for the past five years, and Vicar's warden for two years; and he has been president of the village produce association since its formation 18 years ago. years ago.

years ago.

He will be best remembered for the many functions which have been held in the gardens of his house at Wheatley.

Classes for police in Orchard served 1914-18 war. During the 1939-45 war he was responsible for the training of many Red Cross groups, and for first-aid and medical instruction to the County nolice, who attended medical instruction to the County police, who attended classes at his house.

Besides caring for more than 6,000 patients during this period, he was in charge of Chipping-hurst Manor Maternity Home, where 3,000 babies were born.

The doctor and his wife are going to live in a large country house near Falmouth, and will be joined by his 85-year-old mother. In doing this they will have achieved one of their main ambitions—to return to Falmouth, where they spent their ambitions—to return to Fal-mouth, where they spent their honeymoon

honeymoon

Here, the doctor says, nedevote some of his time to relieving friends in the medical and he will enjoy devote some of the medical profession and he will enjoy the rest of it in his garden and at his plane.

Dr. Orchard will be succeeded by Dr. R. Flury, who has come to Wheatley from Norfolk.